

Thanlin

Aeris Nailo's former teacher and an archdruid of the Grove. Thanlin taught Aeris about Sylvanus, the balance between growth and decay, and the importance of listening to nature rather than simply imposing order upon it. During Aeris's childhood, Thanlin used a lakeside lesson to show him a vision of the Underdark and told him the story of Ilarion Mossheart and the lost Wildwood Scepter of Sylvanus.

THANLIN

The Mossheart • Old Ent • Druid of the Deepwood

RACE / SPECIES: Old Ent (Ancient Woodland Spirit)

CLASS: ——— Druid (Circle of the Land)

ROLE: ——— Mentor • Guide • Healer • Protector

ALIGNMENT: True Neutral

AGE: ——— Indeterminate (Centuries Old)

HEIGHT: ——— ~6 ft (Varies with seasons)

PERSONALITY: Patient, wise, gentle, and ancient. Speaks rarely, but his words root deep. Sees the forest, fungi, water, and stone as one living whole. Defends balance without arrogance.

MOTIVATION: To preserve the living world and teach those willing to listen. To ensure the forest endures long after he is gone.

THE WILDWOOD SCEPTER

An ancient focus grown from deepwood roots and bound by living vines. The crystal at its heart channels primal magic — life, growth, and the balance between worlds.

FRONT

SIDE

BACK

CRYSTAL HEART

Clear quartz infused with druidic magic.

VINE WRAPPING

Living vines shift slightly, tightening in times of need.

WOODEN CORE

Ancient deepwood root. Unbreakable by normal means.

EXPRESSIONS

SERENE

CONCERNED

WISE

FIRM

BACK VIEW

SCALE REFERENCE

DETAILS / CLOSE UPS

MOSS & FOLIAGE

His cloak is alive. Plants grow across him, shifting with the seasons.

WOODLAND ADORNMENTS

Leaves, ivy, fungi, and forest detritus are woven into his being.

HANDS

Rough like bark, strong as roots, yet gentle in touch.

EYES

Deep, ancient, and connected to the land. He sees more than most.

COLOR PALETTE

NOTES

- Communes with plants, animals, and the natural world.
- Speaks Sylvan and Druidic.
- Rarely raises his voice. When he does, silence follows.
- The Wildwood Scepter amplifies spells tied to life, nature, protection, and balance.
- Appears where the land needs healing — or where the balance is threatened.

— “The roots remember what the stones forget.” —