

Cathrys - Serpent Ziggurat

SERPENT ZIGGURAT

CATHRYS • LOCATION REFERENCE

An ancient serpent ziggurat rising from the diseased swamps of Cathrys. Built from colossal, weathered stone, the structure serves as a forgotten temple of unknown purpose. Overgrown with massive roots and hostile vegetation, it stands beneath a blood-red sky dominated by a colossal celestial body. Stone braziers burn across its terraces, marking a path to the dark entrance at the summit.

FRONT ELEVATION

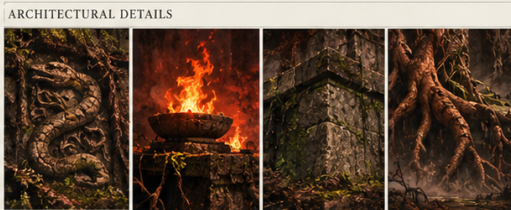

THREE-QUARTER VIEW

SIDE PROFILE

STAIRCASE & ENTRANCE

ARCHITECTURAL DETAILS

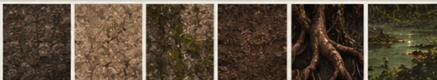

ENVIRONMENT & LIGHTING

COLOUR PALETTE

MATERIALS / TEXTURES

SCALE REFERENCE

KEY FEATURES

- Monumental stepped-pyramid construction
- Broad central stone staircase
- Ancient, weathered dark stone
- Serpent-related architectural motifs
- Heavy erosion and age
- Massive roots and hostile vegetation
- Stone braziers and simple fire sources
- Swampy, diseased Cathrys environment
- Blood-red sky and colossal celestial body

